

Legendary AFL Chief William Green To Be Buried Monday In Ohio

COSHOCOTON, O. (AP) — William Green, the coal miner's son who became a living legend as president of the powerful American Federation of Labor, will be laid to rest Monday in his native Ohio.

The fabulous energy which drove the AFL chieftain through 28 tumultuous years as leader of some eight million laboring Americans finally ran out yesterday. Death from a heart ailment came at 1:22 p.m., EST, at his red-brick, Coshocton home.

Burns Prove Fatal To Detroit Doctor

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. William H. Martin, 82, former president of the Michigan Pharmaceutical Association, died last night of burns suffered Thursday when he apparently fell asleep in a chair while smoking.

A practicing Detroit physician for 46 years, Dr. Martin was a former president of the Ohio State University Medical School alumni.

Sen. Taft Expected To Go After Senate Floor Leadership

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower's choice of former aides of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for cabinet posts prompted new speculation today that Sen. Robert A. Taft will seek the GOP Senate floor leadership.

With five prospective cabinet members named, Taft has yet to place a man from the list he reportedly submitted to Eisenhower at the latter's request.

Dre Firm Head New In Politics

CLEVELAND (AP) — Industrialist George M. Humphrey says he plans to go to Washington in a few days to start acquainting himself with his future job of secretary of the Treasury.

The 62-year-old newcomer to national politics—the first pre-GOP convention supporter of Sen. Robert A. Taft to be picked to President-elect Eisenhower's cabinet—said he will then start picking a staff.

But he declined to comment on hat policies he will pursue when he takes over the important cabinet post in January.

It will be an important financial, family and business sacrifice for him, said Humphrey yesterday when his appointment was announced.

"But I couldn't sleep nights if I didn't do it. I expect nothing but headaches and plenty of them," Humphrey announced he will resign his board chairmanships of the re-shipping firm, M. A. Hanna company of Cleveland and the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, world's largest producer of bituminous coal, and all other business connections.

Even-Toed Cat Pete helps Girl Get Well from Attack Of Polio

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A little girl suffering from polio showed her first signs of recovery yesterday thanks to a newspaper, a woman who read it, and to seven-toed Pete.

Seven-toed Pete is a cat. He is one of two cats which disappeared from the trailer home of Regina Gamble, 4½, just before doctors confirmed that the little girl had polio.

At the hospital, Regina asked her father, Jay, an automobile mechanic: "If I try hard to get well, would I find seven-toed Pete anduffy?"

There was nothing Jay could say except "yes."

In yesterday's Humboldt Times, a plight of the cats and Regina is detailed. Mrs. Walter Call told the story. Seven-toed Pete strayed across town to her use.

When word of the find was given to Regina's hospital room, she smiled. Nurses said later she was showing improvement.

Michigan Senate Scrap Watched By Republicans

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans, faced with a precarious margin in the new Congress, were keeping close watch today on a post-election senatorial battle in Michigan.

Rep. Charles E. Potter, a Republican, ousted Democratic Sen. Blair Moody at Michigan's polls Nov. 4, according to an official canvass which had Potter ahead by 45,936 votes.

Yesterday the Senate elections subcommittee, which had been asked to investigate what State Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler termed many irregularities in the count, requested that official notice of Potter's election be held up pending completion of a preliminary probe.

Brake Rejects Request
At Lansing, however, D. Hale Brake, acting chairman of the Senate Board of Canvass, turned down the committee request and said the board saw no reason to change its mind about verifying Potter.

Whether Potter is seated when the new Congress meets Jan. 3 could be vital in GOP plans to organize the Senate.

With Potter, the Republicans can count on at least 48 votes plus a vote by Vice President-elect Nixon in case of a tie. If Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who now declares himself an independent, stays with his former Republican teammates in organizing the Senate.

Eisenhower Appointments Approved By Both Parties

Two Powerful Labor Groups Lose Leaders

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's two big labor organizations were pitted today in a sudden twist of fate unforeseeable two weeks ago.

William Green, 81-year-old president of the American Federation of Labor, died yesterday just 12 days after the death of CIO President Philip Murray. Heart trouble was the cause in both cases.

It was Murray who took a leading part in the breakaway from Green's AFL in 1935. Murray played a major role in developing the industrial unionism of the late 1930s and making the Congress of Industrial Organizations a new and independent force in the union movement.

Lewis Active At 72
Both Green and Murray were coal miners and their success was intertwined with that of a third mine worker, John L. Lewis.

Lewis is president of the United Mine Workers. He is 72 and appears as active today as he ever has been.

The sudden vacuum at the top of the AFL and CIO will almost certainly be filled quickly. Some union leaders speculated quietly today that, no matter which two

Snowstorm Paralyzes Four Southern States

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A quick of shifting air masses dumped up to 22 inches of snow yesterday on mountain areas of four Southern States — Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky — paralyzing communications and transportation for many hours.

Despite rapid melting caused by relatively high ground temperatures, the unexpected storm left a large area of ill-prepared Dixie looking like a polar outpost. The snow blanket measured 10 inches here early today.

Heaviest On Record
It was by far the heaviest fall ever recorded here and possibly the heaviest ever recorded this far south. But the resulting snarl in normal community living did not approach the intensity of the three-day ice storm which struck Tennessee and other Southern states early in 1951.

This city of 125,000 had a total fall estimated officially at 22 inches during the 24-hour period yesterday. The precipitation in terms of water measured 2.32 inches.

This was the highest figure reported from the affected areas, but communications were still blacked out to many mountain areas to the east early today.

Power Lines Down
Early reports included a few casualties. A young man and woman were killed at a railroad crossing at nearby Morristown. The accident happened at the height of the snowstorm, but officers were not sure it could be blamed on the storm.

Two women were injured, apparently not seriously, when a store marquee fell under the weight of snow as they were waiting for slow-moving city buses in downtown Knoxville.

Broken power lines brought severe discomfort to numerous families depending on electricity for heat as the temperature dropped to 25 degrees this morning.

Railroad crews fought against heavy odds to push principal trains through the drifts hours behind schedule. Buses and automobiles were reported stalled along hundreds of miles of highways.

The ceiling was proposed by an 11-nation group, including the United States, after an earlier British proposal for a "no frills" budget of $17,436,000 had been defeated.

Budget Upsets UNESCO Chief

PARIS (AP) — Jaine Torres Bodet, director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, resigned today in protest against the refusal of UNESCO's seventh annual conference to approve the $20,400,000 budget he asked for.

Delegates voted yesterday to set a budget ceiling of 18 million dollars for the 68-nation organization during 1953 and 1954.

French Delegate Rene Cassin made a last-minute effort to avert the crisis by saying that the ceiling figure was "quite primitive" and not enough.

Cassin declared he would propose a complementary budget, even though France was among the 29 nations that approved the 18 million dollar figure. Twenty-one nations opposed it and four abstained.

The ceiling was proposed by an 11-nation group, including the United States, after an earlier British proposal for a "no frills" budget of $17,436,000 had been defeated.

Heart Attacks Take Two More Hunters

(By The Associated Press)
Two more hunters were added to the steadily mounting fatality count of Michigan's 1952 deer hunting season.

The first eight days of the 16-day season have claimed 24 lives, 13 by heart attacks, nine by gunfire, and two by drowning.

The latest reported deaths were George Schultheis, 56, of Saginaw, and Leonard T. Jennings, Sr., also of Saginaw. Both suffered heart attacks Friday.

Jennings, president of the Lemond Corset Co., of Saginaw, was stricken at his lodge near Rose City.

Schultheis, who had been missing since Wednesday, was found dead by a searching party in Alpena County, three miles west of Leer.

Conservation officials and state police expect the death count to rise sharply in the last three days of the season when hunters will be permitted to shoot any deer regardless of sex or age.

Jet Pilot Exceeds 700 Miles An Hour In Breaking Record

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Air Force Capt. J. Slade Nash twice bettered 700 miles an hour in setting a new and as yet unofficial world speed record in an F8D Sabre jet plane.

This was disclosed yesterday by Charles S. Logsdon, timer for the Federation Aeronautique Internationale and the National Aeronautics Association. The speed trials were flown over Salton Sea Wednesday.

Capt. Nash, 31, of Moline, Ill., cracked the old record of 670.981 miles an hour set in September, 1948, by Maj. Richard L. Johnson in an F86A, an early model of the North American Aviation Company Sabre jet.

Logsdon said the new marks will be submitted for ratification. He added that Nash zoomed over a measured course four times in 698.44 mph, 698.08, 702.65 and 700.49.

Liquor Control Rule Suspends Magazine, Michigan Out Of Doors

EAST LANSING (AP) — Officials of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs today announced that a ruling of the State Liquor Control Commission will force suspension of publication of the organization's monthly magazine, "Michigan Out of Doors."

The December issue, expected to be published Dec. 12, will be the last, the officials said.

The magazine had been published since June, 1950, under a $50,000 a year subsidy by the Pfeiffer Brewing Co., of Detroit.

The commission has ruled this is "secondary advertising" which is against commission rules and against the ethical code of the State Association of Brewers.

Airmen Destroy 785 Communist Trucks

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SEOUL (AP) — Allied warplanes, swooping low over the highways and by-ways of North Korea, this week racked up the heaviest toll of Communist trucks in nearly a year, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

The Air Force said 785 trucks were destroyed in the last seven days, the highest score since early January.

New Offensive Hinted
Ground fighting today fell off to minor Red probing attacks. All were repulsed without loss of ground.

AP Correspondent John Randolph on the Central Front said the recent harassing tactics of the Chinese might be the prelude to a major Red drive on Sniper Ridge. Allied officers couldn't say for sure just what the Reds were up to.

In a week of fairly heavy air battles, U. S. F86 Sabre jets ran up a score of at least 14-1 against the Manchurian-based MIG15s.

503 MIGs Downed
The Air Force listed 14 MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and four damaged. Only one Sabre jet was lost in air combat. Two prop driven Allied planes were shot down by Red ground fire, and two Sabres were lost to causes other than combat, probably mechanical failure.

Far East Air Forces headquarters in Tokyo said the MIG claims brought to 503 the number of Russian-built fighters shot down during the Korean War.

St. Paul Mother Says Urge Made Her Kill Baby Daughter

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — "I got the baby up from her bed, dressed her and played with her," Mrs. Kenneth Jensen explained to police. "All of a sudden I got an urge, for no reason at all. I came up from behind, put my arm around her neck and just held her tight. I don't know for how long, but I did feel the baby go limp."

"She was so cute this morning. I don't know what my husband will think."

When the baby died "go limp" yesterday, Mrs. Jensen called an ambulance. It arrived and the 22-month-old daughter was pronounced dead — from manual strangulation.

Mrs. Jensen today was held without charge for psychiatric observation.

Choices For Top Cabinet Posts Receive Praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Generally favorable reaction from leaders of both major parties has greeted President-elect Eisenhower's three latest appointments to his high command.

Two of the three were for cabinet posts: Herbert Brownell Jr., New York lawyer and former aide of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, as attorney general, and George M. Humphrey, Cleveland industrialist, as secretary of the treasury.

Eisenhower designated former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota as mutual security administrator.

Assistance Offered
Of Humphrey's selection, Democratic Sen. Byrd of Virginia said: "He is a most outstanding and able businessman, and I predict for him a most successful administration."

Byrd, who refused to support Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, had been mentioned for the Treasury post but said earlier yesterday he did not want it.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder telephoned congratulations to Humphrey, offering his assistance in making a smooth transfer of authority. Snyder called Humphrey "an administrator of sound judgment and experience."

Mutual security Administrator Averell Harriman made a similar offer in a telephone call to Stassen. Harriman's office said the two agreed to an early meeting, but set no date.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who lost the GOP presidential nomination to Eisenhower, declined comment on yesterday's appointments by the President-elect. None of the

Gamblers Found In Detroit Hotel

DETROIT (AP) — Swooping into a 16th floor hotel suite, Detroit police arrested 11 men yesterday for investigation of violating state gambling laws. Two of those grabbed were Scarface Joe Bonmarito and Joe Massie, big shots in Prohibition era gang days.

Ten of the men were freed on bond. All got out for $1,000, except Bonmarito and Massie, who had to post $2,000 each. The 11th man was released when he convinced officers he was in the suite to collect a $196 bill from Masse.

Inspector Clayton of the vice squad, said no gambling paraphernalia was seized in the raid that was carried out on what Nowlin termed "information."

Getting Older Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The population of the United States is growing older fast, according to a survey by the Census Bureau. It said about one in 12 persons was 65 years of age or older July 1, 1951. Fifty years ago the number was one in 25.

Local Red Cross Picks Officers

The Rev. Joseph S. Dickson, pastor of St. Stephen Episcopal church this week was elected chairman of the Delta Chapter of American Red Cross, to succeed Gordon Kelley.

Capt. A. C. Townsend was elected first vice chairman, succeeding S. R. Leishman, Harold Mackie of Gladstone, second vice chairman, Mrs. Fred Swank, secretary, and William Winkler, treasurer.

Nineteen new board members were elected to fill vacancies on the 30-member governing body. They are George Marcoullier, M. D. Perring, Lowell Hibbard, Vernon White, Frank Salmi of Rock, Mrs. Al Johnson of Bark River, Fred Johnson, Jesse Pomazel, Rev. Joseph Dickson, Harold Mackie and Dwayne Burak of Gladstone, Joseph Van Arnam of Gladstone, Dr. Charles Kee of Gladstone, Mrs. Fred Swank, Fred Rogers, R. E. Barron, Atty. William Anderson, Capt. A. C. Townsend and Oliver Christiansen.

Board members named to serve on the executive board, which acts in emergencies for the board of directors, were Gust Asp, Jesse Pomazel, Atty. William Anderson, R. E. Barron, James Jackson, general chairman of the executive board, and Dave Phalen of Nahma.

Reorganization and setting of the budget were accomplished at meetings Thursday evening and Friday afternoon.

Among reports given at the meeting were a summary of Red Cross activities and services by Gordon Kelley, a report on the blood plasma drive by Rev. J. S. Dickson, a report on first aid classes and the awarding of 100 first aid certificates, and a report on Gray Lady work in the blood plasma drive and the Junior High School physical therapy room by Mrs. Charles Neumeier.

Asks Dismissal Of Russell Suit

MARQUETTE—Leo G. Brott, through his attorneys, C. C. Rush-ton and R. R. Eldridge, today filed a motion in Circuit Court either to dismiss the chancery suit brought against him by Frank J. Russell Jr., and others, or to require that more specific allegations be furnished under oath.

The suit as it was originally filed asks for Brott's removal as a trustee in five trusts established by Russell and his father prior to the latter's death in 1947, alleging that Brott may not find it possible to administer these trusts impartially. The trusts embrace 210 shares of the Mining Journal Company, Limited, capital stock. Brott is secretary and treasurer and business manager of the company.

The motion asks the court to order the plaintiffs to set forth specifically what actions, if any, the defendant has taken in his administration of the trusts which causes them to believe him to be disqualified.

In its fourth paragraph the motion says "the plaintiffs have launched a vicious and unwarranted attack against the good name and character of the defendant over the signature of their attorney, none of the plaintiffs having signed the bill nor having sworn to the truth of these allegations."

Further, the motion sets forth that Brott's interest in both the company and the trusts are "practically synonymous, as the welfare of the trusts must follow the welfare and prosperity of the company, and his principal duties as trustee consist in protecting and expanding the source of income for the trusts."

Relative to Mr. Russell's removal as president of The Mining Journal Company, Limited, last June 7, a circumstance cited in his complaint, the motion sets forth that Russell was "discharged from his employment with said company for cause—the reasons being as well known to the plaintiff Russell as to the other members of the board of managers."

London Darts Players To Lose Free Drinks

LONDON (AP)—Skillful darts players in the British capital today faced the shattering prospect of having to buy their own drinks—an idea that cast a pall of gloom over the city's pubs.

A dart board is standard equipment in virtually every British pub. Under a tradition of several generations standing, the house treats any player scoring a "ton" (100 or over) to a free pint of beer.

But the Licensed Victuallers Association advised pub proprietors yesterday this practice should be abandoned because of a slump in business.

"Trade figures are down by a third or even more on the early postwar years," one proprietor said. "We have to consider every means of economy."

Robert Ingersoll, well-known lecturer, served as a colonel during the Civil War.

FUN FOR KIDS—New playground equipment recently was installed on the Rapid River school playground and since its installation a couple weeks ago, the equipment has been crowded with youngsters at recess time and after school. The equipment included a castle tower, merry-go-round and steel slide purchased from the American Playground Device Company of Anderson, Ind. and Nahma. This equipment will soon be manufactured at the American Playground elementary schools in the Rapid River area, Supt. Walter Peters announced.

Sales Tax Check Received Here

Delta county received into its treasury yesterday a sum of $52,331.67, representing the third quarter payment of state sales tax diversion money. Disbursement of the money was made Friday to the cities and townships by County Treasurer Ann S. Villeneuve.

The apportionment was made to the county units on a per capita basis of $81.59 per resident.

The largest share was mailed to the city of Escanaba—$24,120.30. Gladstone was in receipt of $7,681.29 and the village of Garden, $634.41.

Checks were sent to the townships in the following amounts: Baldwin, $1,095.51; Bark River, $2,046.33; Bay de Noc, $613.74; Brampton, $882.45; Cornwell, $855.42; Ensign, $709.14; Escanaba, $1,693.35; Fairbanks, $795.00; Ford River, $1,551.84; Garden, $680.52; Maple Ridge, $1,853.94; Masonville, $1,852.35; Nahma, $1,516.86; and Wells, $3,749.22.

Mrs. Agnes Pearson Dies In Detroit

Mrs. Agnes Pearson of Detroit, a sister of Mrs. Genevieve Beauchamp, 3414 W. Beach St., Chicago, formerly of Escanaba, died Nov. 18 at Florence Crittenden Hospital. She is survived by one daughter and one son, a brother and two sisters. Mrs. Pearson often visited at the Beauchamp home, 309 N. 20th St., in Escanaba and was known to many residents here.

Hospital Sites For Sale By VA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans administration said it is turning over the General Services Administration (GSA) for disposal 19 sites on which it had planned to build hospitals now dropped from the construction program.

Included are sites at Grand Rapids, Mich., for a 200-bed general medical hospital estimated to cost $32,000; a 500-bed tuberculosis hospital at Detroit costing $76,200 and a 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric hospital at Toledo, O., costing $151,600.

Protest From VFW

An official told reporters the action was taken under a 1949 law providing for disposal of surplus property because Congress adjourned on July 7 without extending the life of the legislation under which construction of the hospitals was authorized.

Col. George E. Ijams of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Monday revealed he had protested to Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray Jr. against disposal of any of the sites. Ijams told reporters: "No doubt the VA is perfectly correct that it has ample authority under law but this seems to me to be a glaring example of poor administrative judgment."

May Be Needed

Ijams cited news stories from New York that Republican congressional leaders and President-elect Eisenhower are agreed that the government reorganization law, under which the president may recommend administrative changes to Congress, should be extended for another year.

Ijams said the new administration might decide more hospitals should be built without further delay.

"It is utterly foolish, it seems to me, to dispose of sites chosen after study as representing the best locations for additional hospitals," Ijams continued. "If the new administration decides to build more hospitals, some of them might have to be bought again and as many were acquired years ago you can bet you wouldn't get them again at the same price."

Creek Flood Drowns Farmer And Children Near Frederick, Md.

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—A farmer and his two young children were apparently swept from their car and drowned in a rain-swollen creek, state police reported.

Other motorists at the scene told police the man evidently became confused as he tried to cross a bridge spanning Ballenger Creek two miles southwest of here. The car took a wrong turn, plunged into the stream and the three were presumed to be drowned.

Police identified them as Robert Fletcher Jr., 29, Clyde, 5, and Linda, 3.

MIRTH AND MERRIMENT!

Polio Epidemic In U. P. Checked

The week ending Nov. 7 was the first week since early August when no new cases of polio were reported in Upper Michigan, the Delta-Menominee Health department notes.

In the preceding week nine new cases were reported in the U. P., bringing the peninsula total to 136 thus far this year. Delta County had the highest number of polio cases this year.

Twenty-one of Delta's 50 polio patients now are receiving physical therapy treatment in the Escanaba Junior High School.

Twelve units from the hot pack equipment purchased by Escanaba Senior High School students as a memorial to Fred Paulson, who died of polio this fall, now are on loan to Delta County families.

The hot packs are used as a supplement to treatment given the children in the physical therapy department.

Garden School Children Present Minstrel Show

GARDEN — The large group of parents and friends attending the minstrel show put on by Mrs. Earl Rost's second and third grade children Tuesday night in the Community hall was unanimously agreed that the presentation was excellent. Many folk songs were sung by the entire group. Specialties were "Kentucky Home" by Joan Ouradnik and Mary Ann Latuli, "Camptown Races" by Greene, Robert Ralph, Morrison and John La Valle; exhibitions of shadow boxing and weight-lifting by John La Valle and Donald Greene respectively. Following the performance the pupils enjoyed lunch downstairs.

The business meeting of the PTA was held in the council room after the entertainment and the pupils of Mrs. Rost's room remained in the limelight by winning the prize for the largest representation of parents. It was decided that the PTA would furnish candy and treats for the Christmas parties to be held in the various rooms of the school. Much more interest is being shown in the organization this season by parents and teachers and officers sincerely hope that this will continue to grow. Mrs. Rita Maynard, Mrs. Earl Rost, Mrs. Gordon McPhee, Mrs. Howard Pelletier and Mrs. Earl Cota served on the lunch committee.

Home Care For Sick Is Taught By Red Cross To 115 Delta County Women

Home care of the sick is being learned by 115 Delta County women who meet weekly with Red Cross instructors. Eight classes now are organized, and nine more will be started after the Christmas holidays.

To date, two classes in Menominee county, taught by Miss Irene Larson of Escanaba at Powers-Spalding and Hermansville High Schools, have been completed. The Delta Classes are about midway through the course, which consists of seven lessons.

Nine teachers and nurses from Delta County have completed a 30-hour Red Cross course for home nursing instructors, and now are teaching classes in Escanaba, Gladstone, Bark River, Cornell, Newhall and other Delta communities.

Trained in October
The home nursing program in Delta County was organized this year at the request of Miss Ingrid Tervonen, home extension advisor. Earlier this year home extension clubs had requested that these classes be offered.

Mrs. Nyal Witham, Red Cross executive secretary, Mrs. Norman Anderson, volunteer nursing services chairman, and Miss Virginia Raymond, enrollment nurse, were in charge of starting the program and providing instructors.

Instructors were trained in October by Miss Maybelle Sacher, R. N., of the Midwestern Red Cross staff in St. Louis, Mo. Those now authorized to teach the classes are Mrs. Richard Meissner, Mrs. Leo Brunelle, Miss Viola Salo and Mrs. Tom Hughes, school teachers; and Mrs. Donald Van Enkevort, Mrs. Gunnar Pearson, Mrs. Joseph Bartol, Miss Virginia Raymond and Mrs. Norman Anderson, registered nurses.

Skilled Jills
Members of Delta County Home Extension groups now are participating in classes, which are held in homes, schools and church halls. Classes generally consist of 10 to 15 persons from a group or combined groups from clubs, church organizations, neighborhoods or societies.

"The home nursing lessons have been received with much enthusiasm, and are a valuable source of training and information for the homemaker, mother of small children and persons responsible for care of aged members of the family or others confined to their home," Mrs. Anderson home nursing chairman, states.

In Escanaba, the Skilled Jills meet at the home of Mrs. Palmer Jorgensen, 221 South 10th street, every Thursday evening for instruction by Mrs. Gunnar Pearson, R. N. Gladstone groups have formed two classes, which meet at the home of the instructor, Mrs. Joseph Bartol, R. N., of Groos.

Preventing Infection
Bark River home nursing classes meet at the Bark River Junior High School, and also at the Sunnyside school, with Mrs. Donald VanEnkevort, R. N. and Mrs. Leo Brunelle as instructors. The Danforth club meets Tuesday evenings at the home of the instructor, Mrs. Norman Anderson, R. N. Mrs. Norman Anderson also instructs the Soo Hill PTA group, which meets at the home of Mrs. Andy Anderson on Wednesday evenings. Mrs. Tom Hughes of Pine Ridge teaches a class of 20 at Cornell.

Delta women in their first lesson learn methods for safe disposal of waste materials from the sickroom, proper hand washing to prevent spread of infection, and how to take temperatures.

Will Get Certificates
Homemakers also learn how to keep a patient comfortable and how to give bed baths. They also receive instruction in simple treatments, foods and medicines ordered by doctors. Control of communicable diseases also is studied.

The last of the seven lessons provides a summary and review of procedures, and gives an insight into how the training can be of use in event of disaster, war, and epidemics and in the Civil De-

Garden Student Has Best Essay At St. Joseph's

Marlene Winter of Garden, a junior at St. Joseph High School here, wrote the winning essay on the theme "Reading Is Fun" for the school observance of National Book Week, Sister Mary Cornelius announces.

The Garden student read her essay at an assembly yesterday afternoon. Miss Winter also won the high school award in guessing the names of 24 fiction characters.

Carla Douk of Escanaba, a seventh grader, successfully named the 24 fiction characters in the grade school contest. Both were sponsored by the National Children's Book Council.

Awards in the book week observance were made at the Friday assembly, during which the St. Joseph Glee Club sang.

The essay contest was judged by Sister Mary Cornelius and the fiction contest by Sister Mary Godfrey.

Two Escanabans Win State Fishing Titles

Winners of the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce better fishing rodeo held here in July were announced today by the Better Fishing Incorporation.

Named 1952 Michigan junior better fishing king and queen were Harold Gasman, 12, 615 S. 10th St., and Delores McKosky, 13, 319 S. 18th St.

Young Gasman landed a three pound, five ounce walleye pike while Miss McKosky hooked a four pound, three ounce northern pike during the fishing rodeo here. They were the heaviest in the state. The two winners will receive coronation certificates signed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Baby Girls Born To Singing Stars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singing star Jane Powell and her husband, Garry Steffen, insurance executive, are receiving congratulations today on the birth of their second child.

The infant, Suzanne Ilene, weighed in yesterday at 6 pounds, 4 ounces. The Steffens have a son, Garry Jr., 18 months old.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Judy Garland gave birth to a Caesarean section yesterday to a baby girl.

Her husband is agent Sid Luft, whom she married June 8 in Hollister, Calif.

The child weighed 6 pounds, 4 ounces, and nurses described her as a "chunky baby girl who looks just like her mother."

Miss Garland and Luft kept their marriage secret for a few days. When the story broke it also was disclosed that Luft, her third husband, had been handling her business affairs for several months.

Judy formerly was married to David Rose, composer and conductor, and to screen director Vincente Minnelli. She has a daughter by Minnelli, Liza May, 5.

Luft also has been married three times. Five months ago he was ordered by the courts to increase to $400 monthly his payments to actress Lynn Bari, for support of their 3-year-old son, John Michael Luft.

Selection Of Dulles And Wilson To Cabinet Posts Is Reassuring

THE selection of at least two of President-elect Eisenhower's cabinet appointees announced to date should meet with general approval throughout the nation. One is the selection of John Foster Dulles as secretary of state and the other the selection of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

These are two of the most important jobs in Washington and Gen. Eisenhower has selected two of the nation's most able men to fill them.

John Foster Dulles is the architect of the Japanese peace treaty, a masterful job of statesmanship. His appointment, too, should put at ease those who were concerned that Gen. Eisenhower would turn to an isolationist policy after his inauguration as President of the United States. Dulles is anything but an isolationist. He knows the world problems and is an able administrator. He should do an outstanding job as the maker of foreign policy in the new cabinet.

Charles E. Wilson takes the defense secretariat well equipped for the tremendous burden that this job creates. As president of the far-flung General Motors industrial enterprise, Wilson has proved his ability as an organizer and administrator of big business.

Gen. Eisenhower and the nation are exceptionally fortunate to secure the services of a man with the talents and abilities of Mr. Wilson. For one thing, Wilson will take a pay cut of well over a half million dollars a year to accept the defense job. But he is a man big enough to realize the tremendous scope of the defense job and its importance to the nation.

Other Editorial Comments

AN ALLY HAS KNOW-HOW, TOO

(Duluth News-Herald)

In a little more than a year the Churchill government in Britain has done away with 14,700 government jobs. The British government now has fewer civilian employees than at any time since 1942.

Britain has survived this change. In fact, the general public seems well pleased with the way things are going.

Traditionally, American candidates stress the need of such economy measures during their campaigns. Elected officials, the same men who used to be candidates, find it hard to accomplish much, if anything. The Eisenhower administration will face some mighty opposition when it tries to scale down the federal establishment to the reasonable but still vast proportions actually required.

Maybe Point 4, like lend-lease, should have a reverse attachment. British manufacturers and operatives in factories say they have learned much of value through a study of our methods. The British Conservatives would surely be willing to tell us how they cut expenses and freed so much manpower without injuring the country or weakening the party's popularity.

NONPARTISAN ECONOMICS

(Detroit Free Press)

Before his death, Phil Murray, CIO president, prepared a report urging the end of all wage controls.

He noted that the Wage Stabilization Board had failed to take action on 12,000 petitions for wage adjustments which it had allowed to pile up in a three-month period. He also noted that less than half of the items which affect the cost of living were under price controls.

Murray concluded, therefore, that the price-wage control program had been virtually abandoned.

He might also have noted that the Government's control policies had failed to check inflation because they were made of "rubber" which stretched easily under pressure from both unions and business.

The failure of wage-price controls has contributed to, and is an integral part of, the mess in Washington. The CIO request and the damage already done to the economy should be all the urging the new Congress needs to reappraise the entire problem.

Maybe this is the time to abolish all controls and allow the law of supply and demand to take over. Whatever the decision, it should not be made after haphazard study with politics dominating factor.

What is needed is a nonpartisan commission which will get the facts on economic conditions and what caused them. Then it should decide for or against controls solely on the basis of what is best for the United States.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—General Eisenhower's recent conference with military chiefs at the Pentagon did not lead to much hope that he could end the Korean war on his forthcoming trip.

The picture given him on the whole was gloomy. In fact, considerably more casualties may be necessary before there can be any conclusion in Korea.

In general, the President-elect was told that the Communists had built up their strength to a peak of 1,200,000 men. They took advantage of the truce talks to put across this build-up, and it now develops that the Chinese were weak and crumbling when they asked for a truce—apparently for the purpose of stalling for time. From our point of view the truce talks were one of the crucial mistakes of the war.

Eisenhower was also given the rather ominous news that signs of a Communist offensive have been reported. The forward placement of enemy artillery along the Korean battle front looks like an approaching large-scale attack. Also there has been a build-up of light bombers just across the Yalu River, which is a bad sign. For light bombers are chiefly used for offense.

There was no indication that an offensive was being timed for Eisenhower's visit to Korea—though that could be the case.

The President-elect was told that, if an offensive does come, U. N. troops were sufficient to hold the line, though the line might be dented in spots.

Eisenhower asked each member of the joint chiefs of staff the same question. Of Admiral Feltner, chief of naval operations, he asked: what kind of shape is the Navy in Korea? Fine shape, Feltner replied.

Eisenhower got about the same answer from Gen. Joe Collins, army chief of staff, and Gen. Nate Twining, vice-chief of staff for the Air Force.

He did not discuss his trip to Korea with the joint chiefs of staff, though he told Secretary of Defense Lovett that he would let him know about the trip in two or three days.

FAME IS FLEETING

General Eisenhower and Freeman Gosden, partner in the team of Amos and Andy, were playing golf the other day and discussing the question of fame.

General Eisenhower complained a bit that his new-found fame restricted his movements and his normal way of living. But Gosden assured him that fame is very fleeting.

Gosden went on to explain that for a good many years he was supposed to be one of the biggest figures in the entertainment world, but since Amos and Andy had gone on television, three Negro actors had been hired to play the parts—Tim Moore as Kingfish, Alvin Childress as Amos, and Spencer Williams as Andy.

"After the TV films are made," Gosden explained to Eisenhower, "they are taken to a theatre for a preview before a live audience, at which we dub in the audience applause and reaction."

"And after it's all over, the three actors who have only just taken over these TV parts nearly get mobbed, while Charlie Correll and I who have been playing for years, get shoved aside."

CHANGING WASHINGTON

Moving-out day is approaching for the following:

Leslie Biddle, astute Secretary of the Senate. Biddle, famous for making Alben Barkley vice president, for giving away canned tomato juice at Christmas, and for dressing up as a chicken salesman to take election-campaign soundings, will not become minority Senate secretary when the Democrats lose control. He is tired of politics and will go into business.

Ambassador Felix Nieto Del Rio, popular Chilean envoy to the U. S. A. He is packing his bags not because a general won an election in this country, but because a general, Carlos Ibanez, won an election in his country.

Ernest Gruening, governor of Alaska. Gruening has been governor of Alaska—and a good one—for 13 years, longer than any other man in history. Probably he has been governor longer than most governors of states. His term expires in April at which time he will resign. He is not removable at the pleasure of the President.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt placed Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York in charge of distributing American food, clothing and medicine to the people of lands occupied by troops of the United Nations.

Escanaba—Returning to Escanaba and his family for the first time since Jan. 1, Capt. Wally Arntzen, who was in the North Atlantic Ferry flying service, arrived on a five-day leave.

'Love The Hate Out Of People,' Says Bishop Of Grand Central

NOONTIME ON TRACK 13: Red Cap Ralston Young, "Bishop of Grand Central Station" in New York, leads a prayer meeting in an idle railroad coach. He's been conducting them for seven years.

By LEONARD RUPPERT

NEW YORK (NEA)—It was lunch hour and Grand Central Terminal was busy and noisy as usual. But down on Track 13 a group of men and women seemed unaware of the hubbub. They sat in a darkened railroad coach and softly recited a prayer.

Leading them in their devotions was Ralston Crosbie Young, a thin, scholarly-looking porter—"red cap"—who is known to hundreds of friends as the "Bishop of Grand Central Station."

Young has been conducting prayer meetings at Track 13 for seven years. From four to 40 people of all faiths and backgrounds come to his informal 45-minute gathering every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Precisely at noon, the 52-year-old station porter abandons his search for bags to carry and waits at the track gate to greet them. Some are "regulars" who come every chance they get. But most are curious visitors who come to watch and usually wind up staying to be convinced.

When everyone is assembled, Young unlocks the gate and leads the group down the stairs to the unlighted day coach. They confide in each other their personal problems and ask divine aid in solving them. They pray for peace and better understanding among mankind.

Young admits that until just a few years ago, he was a "mighty sinful man."

"I was mean and prideful," he recalls, "and I got into all sorts of scrapes. Once I even broke up another man's home and got a beating for it. All I wanted from life was what I could get out of it. I was really in a tailspin."

The end of the tailspin came after a visit to New York's famed Calvary P. E. Church. There Young learned of Calvary's many prayer groups. He decided to start a group of his own and it began the next day in the Grand Central waiting room. Charter members were Young and another red cap, a lawyer, an elevator operator and a bewildered traveler who had lost his wallet.

Slowly the group picked up members. When it finally began to create a scene in the waiting room, it shifted its meetings to the idle Track 13 day coach.

Of all the prayers the group has said Young remembers best the one of a man named Johnson, who came to pray for his sick brother and asked the others to pray with him. With each succeeding visit, Johnson reported that his brother was getting better. Then came a relapse and his brother died. Angry and disillusioned, Johnson stopped coming to the prayer meetings.

"He was through with us," recalls Young, "and worse—he was through with God."

Young brooded about the incident for weeks. Then one day he walked down to Track 13 as usual and was elated to find Johnson waiting for him. He needed no explanation, but Johnson offered one anyway.

"I suddenly realized," he said, "that I had been asking God to give me something and I had never tried to give Him something in return. You can't do business with God that way."

Young's group has become famous in religious circles. And its founder now spends most of his Sundays answering speaking invitations in church pulpits. He has also spoken at several universities, among them Vassar and Yale.

"I used to think," he says, "that my job wasn't good enough for me—that even a dunce could carry a man's bags. Now I know better. My job means something for it gives me plenty of chances to be kind and helpful to others."

"A few years ago," he says, "I was pretty touchy. Whenever anyone insulted me, I felt like taking a razor to him. But now I rely on love. With God's help, I try to love the hate right out of the person who has insulted me. And you'd be surprised how often it works."

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

EVERYTHING WENT BLACK—A few years ago we wrote a column commenting on the prevalence of homicides in which the defendant's defense was that "everything went black" just before he drew the knife or pulled the trigger.

At that time a friend of ours in the legal profession indignantly asked whether we were encouraging crime by suggesting methods to beat the rap.

And we pointed out then, as we do now, that commenting on a favorite dodge of the defense in murder cases has no element of suggestion. It is a plain statement of fact, supported by reading almost any report of recent murder trials in the United States.

To have everything "go black" just before the homicidal act is catching on fast, along with the welfare and psychiatric approach to the treatment of criminals.

THE BEST DEFENSE—Both males and females, according to record, have a disposition toward mental collapse—discovered after the murder.

It was once thought that only women went into the homicidal vapors, but experience shows that strong men will faint before a bad case of shooting or slicing and still go through all the motions of effecting a nearly-successful escape.

One man in Massachusetts neatly disposed of a girl friend with a couple bullets. He followed this up by secreting the body in the basement and going for an extended vacation trip.

Since crime does not pay, he was caught. His defense, as you may suppose, was that he didn't remember a thing from the time he walked up the apartment stairs to the girl's room. Fortunately his mind cleared in time for him to hide the body, wipe up the blood, dispose of the gun, and make his getaway.

THE COLD AND THE CODDLED—Perhaps the growing inclination to divorce punishment from crime is at the back of the picture.

Once upon a time it was assumed that murder was murder and there was a punishment to fit the crime; now the growing attitude toward major crimes is one of confused pointing of accusing fingers.

The criminal cannot be to blame because he is the product of our civilization. Therefore the criminal's fault is not in himself but in other people. Aha! The crime has been solved—the public is to blame!

The murderer must, therefore, be psychoanalyzed. We will explore his subconscious to see where his little mind has been hurt—that same little mind that conveniently blacked out during the crime.

That this makes small difference to the very cold fact of death is relatively immaterial. After all, you can't have any fun trying to probe the subconscious of a dead man.

COMPLEX COMPLEXITIES—It was once considered prima facie evidence that a crime had been committed against the people when you had a body and a confessed murderer.

Now you can have all these and still not obtain a conviction. Because, you see, there is this business of separating the murderer and his mind.

Since the confessed murderer says that his mind "went blank" it is obviously necessary for a court or jury to consider the murderer as two separate entities on trial—mind and body. The mind was weak but the arm was strong. Therefore it would be obviously unfair to punish the arm, which is subservient to the brain. And you cannot punish the brain because it is sickly affair with blank spots in it.

Under the circumstances the only possible course is to doctor the brain and forget about the murder, because no actual crime has been committed and punishment is a horrid word.

RIGHT AND WRONG—The whole quibbling character of today's approach to crime and punishment, to prosecution and defense, is perhaps typical of the times.

No longer are there villains or heroes. Black is no longer black or white white. There is, strictly speaking, no such arbitrary assumption as right and wrong.

Instead there are the lovable villains and heroes with feet of clay; black has all shades of gray and white its sully spots, right is only a matter of opinion and not worth fighting for, while wrong is a fascinating subject for speculation.

And in the above anything offensive or derogatory, I am really blameless. You see, "everything went black" just before I started to write this.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

He who eats humble pie must, as it were, eat his words. He must apologize most deeply for whatever it was that he said or did that was wrong or caused great dis-to another. He must fairly crawl on the ground in his humility.

...and of pie is or was a humble pie? How did it ever acquire the meaning we now give it?

In the first place the original name of the pie was not humble at all. It was numble. The numbles were the parts of a deer—the heart, liver, or other entrails—which the master of a household did not think becoming to his dignity to eat. Such parts were fit only for servants or people of low estate. And, for better consumption, these portions, which were actually very tasty, were served as a meat pie.

The change from numble to humble occurred in this fashion. Back before the sixteenth century it was the custom, when writing, to attach the indefinite article "a" or "an" to the word which followed. Thus "a man" was commonly written "aman"; "an oak" was "anoak," and so on. But when it later became desirable to separate the words there was often an uncertainty where the separation should be made. It was in such manner that we have the words apron, orange, adder, and various others, which, from their sources, should be napron, norange nadder etc.

A 16-pound salmon caught in Oregon would feed three cats or 300 boarders.

Second Great Labor Leader Dies

THE death of William Green, president of the AFL, at his home in Coshocton, Ohio yesterday, removes from the labor leadership field the second great labor boss within a period of two weeks. Philip Murray, head of the CIO, died suddenly in San Francisco on Nov. 9.

Green has been president of the American Federation of Labor a long time and a period in which labor has produced its greatest gains. These gains were made not only in the number of workers joining labor unions but also gains of tremendous importance in labor benefits.

Although opposite in many respects to the late Phil Murray, William Green gained the respect of both the union members and most industrialists, as did Murray.

The leadership of these two great labor organizations now fall to new hands. Whether or not they will be competent, reasonable hands in the tradition of William Green and Phil Murray for the betterment of labor and the nation depends the problem of labor-management peace in America.

Elements of the Good Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

What is the conception of the good life, the best life of all, as we see it set forth and exemplified in the teaching and example of Jesus?

Does that conception of the good life differ in any way from conceptions commonly held and stressed at various times, in various places by professed followers of the Master?

I think the answer to the second question is: Yes. Though there are profound and striking exceptions, there have been many followers of Jesus inspired by him, who have lived lives of conspicuous devotion and service. In our own time there have been men like Father Damien of Molokai, and Sir Winifred Grenfell of Labrador; women like Jane Addams of Chicago. And their name, in spite of all the shortcomings of professed Christians, has been legion; for many unknown to fame, have not been unknown to God for their sincerity and goodness.

But in general the emphasis in historic Christianity and the church has been negative, rather than positive. It has been upon sins, rather than upon the great, positive expressions and acts of righteousness and truth.

If one doubts this, he need only make wide observation of life, to see how many lives of "good" men and women, well-intentioned and free from evil, are none the less inconspicuous for evidence of the "fruit of the Spirit" (Galatians 5:22-25).

The thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians, next to the Sermon on the Mount, the greatest sermon ever written in its simplicity, conciseness, and brevity, makes plain the nature of the good life as the Apostle Paul learned it from his Master.

This is the conception of the good life that Jesus emphasized in all that He said and did. The spirit of all His teaching and example was: "This do, and thou shalt live." It is surprising how little "do not" is found in the Gospel record of His sayings.

Perhaps the conspicuous examples, in fact, of Jesus saying "do not" did not relate to sins and actions, but to the fundamental thing of character and spirit: in prayer, He said, do not use vain repetitions "as the heathen do" (Matthew 6:7); and He said "do not" after the works of the Scribes and Pharisees, "for they say and do not" (Matthew 23:3).

In the positive emphasis upon the good life, such as Jesus made, there is no danger that there will be less inhibition against sin and sins.

The positive attuning of the heart to truth and righteousness is, in fact, the surest guarantee that one's life will be inwardly and outwardly correct. A world concentrating more upon righteousness and the spirit and acts of love will be correspondingly, a world free from sin and evil.

Wedgwood Will Be Second Lecture Series Speaker

DEARBORN—Hensleigh Wedgwood, president of the American branch of the Wedgwood firm, will discuss in detail the influence his family has had on ceramics and pottery at the second in a series of Michigan Antiques Lectures sponsored by The Henry Ford Museum.

His lecture "Josiah Wedgwood and His Influence on English Pottery" will be presented Tuesday Nov. 25, at 8:30 p. m. in the Henry Ford Museum Theater. Wedgwood is a member of the tenth generation of the famous Wedgwood family which has made outstanding artistic and technical contributions to the ceramic industry since 1649.

Few families in modern times have the distinction of having had ten of their generations contribute to the progress on one field of endeavor.

Gilbert Was First

The first potter in the family of whom there is any record was Gilbert Wedgwood (1588-1678), a potter at the Over House in Burslem, England, from 1612 until his death. He and his successors for the next three generations, all of whom were named Thomas, were also engaged in pottery-making at the Churchyard House Works in Burslem until 1749.

Great, great grandson of Gilbert Wedgwood was Josiah I (1730-1795), founder of the present business, who was apprenticed to his brother Thomas in 1739.

Twenty years later, Josiah started the distinctive "line" at the Ivy House where he perfected creamware, later known as "Queensware." In 1769 he built the famous Etruria Works near Eton College, and in 1774 he introduced his popular Jasperware.

Wide Influence

Sympathetic with the American Revolution, Josiah Wedgwood actually imported clay for the production of jasperware from the colonies. Of Josiah I, it has been said, "his influence was so powerful and his personality so dominant that all other English potters worked on the principles he laid down, and thus a fresh impulse and a new direction was given to the potters of England and the civilized world."

The present Wedgwood direction is divided up between Joseph V. managing director, his cousin John, who is deputy managing director and in charge of sales, and Hensleigh Wedgwood, president of the American branch and a director of the parent company in Burslem, England.

Lilli Palmer rebuilds her strength and beauty by having her dinner in bed one or two evenings a week (above center) Perfect grooming is essential to her fastidious nature. Standing before her bedroom mirror (above right), the camera catches her just as she is about to turn to get a good view of her back appearance. About to leave her home for an evening of gaiety with Rex Harrison, her husband, Lilli Palmer wears a short dinner gown (above left) that is right for her petite figure. Her entire wardrobe is cued to her small size.

By ALICIA HART

For many of us the word "actress" is forever linked with the word "beauty". And since the two words thus seem synonymous, it becomes automatic that an actress should be naturally beautiful.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Sarah Bernhardt was not a beautiful woman but she learned to create an illusion of beauty on the stage. And this ability to create is far greater than beauty itself. Bernhardt had it because she had taught herself to think and act like a beauty. In short, she worked hard at beauty as nearly all actresses must.

Beautiful Lilli Palmer is a fine example of the disciplined beauty. Her life is a busy one. She has her family, her never-ending work in the theater, motion pictures, television. Yet she knows that beauty cannot be neglected and so she works at it daily.

"I feel that many women tend to neglect good grooming," Miss Palmer says. "And it's such an important part of beauty that no woman can possibly be really beautiful without it."

"Yet many women, failing to grasp its importance, appear in public with unpressed clothes, accessories that don't match, crooked stockings seams, ruffled heels and uneven hemlines. These are poor habits that rob any woman of her rightful charm."

Even women who are careful may check on the front view only, Miss Palmer thinks. They don't realize that other people see the back view, too, and judge them accordingly.

"I never leave my apartment," she says, "without checking carefully for a wandering stocking seam, an uneven heel lift, a stray line of petticoat."

Sound health is extremely important to real beauty, Miss Palmer emphasizes. And an essential to good health is regular relaxation. In these days of world-wide tension and nervous strain, it isn't always easy to achieve a relaxed feeling. But a little practice helps.

"I make it a rule, twice a week, to have my dinner brought to me in bed," Lilli Palmer explains.

"Our housekeeper does this, but there are many quick and simple menus you can prepare yourself if you do your own housework."

"You might start with a cup of soup, followed by a plate of scrambled eggs and sausages. Cover the eggs to keep them hot while you have your soup. Have some melba toast, a pot of tea and a dish of fresh or canned soup. Then read for awhile. You'll go off to sleep easily and awake really refreshed."

Miss Palmer's family is very understanding about this need of hers to relax. Chances are yours will be, too, once they're used to the idea. Particularly, they'll be

Big Brother Mustn't Be Allowed To Bully

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

When children fight, one is sure to win while the other is sure to lose. Unless their fighting is stopped by adult intervention, there is not likely to be a stalemate. How should parents handle fighting, is the question asked by this mother:

(Q) "We have two boys, ages 7 and 9. The younger is big for his age but not as strong as his older brother. The big boy is constantly picking on the little one and they are continually fighting. My husband says I should let them fight it out but I feel sorry for the little one. His brother always wins and this makes for hard feelings between the boys. How should I handle this problem?"

(A) In the first place, don't allow the older boy to bully his little brother. It's unsportsmanlike to say the least. It inflates the older boy's ego to know he has the upper hand but it is not right to let him do this at your other child's expense.

You can quickly put a stop to this bullying by telling the older boy that if he picks on his little brother he will be punished—he will not be allowed to go out to play with the other boys, he will not be permitted to listen to the radio, watch television, go to the movies, or something else he especially likes to do. After one or two punishments of this sort, he will learn that he is the one who will suffer.

Encourage him to play more with boys his own age and size where he can fight on an equal basis. Likewise, encourage your younger son to play with his contemporaries. It is always better when children play with other children of their own age and level of ability than when they play with children younger or older than themselves.

Because your older son is bigger and stronger than your younger son, there is no fairness to the competition. The younger one can easily be hurt from such fights. Even more important, he can develop a feeling of inadequacy which will make him want to avoid fights with anyone at any cost. This is the way a coward is made. That, I am sure, is not what you want to happen to your younger son.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

SOME people are like blotters—they soak it all up but they get it all backwards. How backward are you? Haven't you heard about the Snorkel yet? You don't need a blotter—you don't need a pen wiper—you don't need nothing when you fill the new Snorkel pen. Designed by Sheaffer, this amazing fountain pen has a completely new gadget which allows you to fill the pen with absolutely no mess and a minimum of effort. The Snorkel is named after a famous submarine. A small tube extends out of the point into the ink... then retracts right up into the pen, so that you don't even get the point wet! The Office Service Company will demonstrate one for you any old day. Better see a Snorkel. What an ink filler what a stocking filler come Christmas Eve!

A bachelor is a man who would rather cook his own goose. But if you're one of those happily married men who has a wife to cook his turkey, you'd better show that gal how happy you are by presenting her with a beautiful floral centerpiece for her Thanksgiving table.

Nelson's Floral Company now has a full line of exquisite, fresh cut flowers. You'll also like their lush chrysanthemum plants in glowing autumn colors. Decorative green plants from Nelson's are reasonable (in case you can't afford a blooming thing). A centerpiece from Nelson's is the finishing touch to make a festive occasion faultless!

COMPLAINS a friend of mine. "The trouble with resisting temptation is that it may never come again!" Maybe you'd better not walk into Blomstrom and Petersen once in, who can resist the temptation to buy? For here you find the very finest in silver. Yesterday I admired the fine holloware pieces with a Thanksgiving table in mind. Mentally I placed my turkey on the huge silver platter, poured the luscious gravy into the gleaming gravy boat, spooned the vegetables into both parts of the double serving dishes. For wedding gifts of distinction, for your own delight, I know you'll take a shine to Blomstrom and Petersen silver hollowware.

INVOICE: the only voice that father gets in family affairs! But I know he'll voice an opinion when you serve Thanksgiving good-giving goodies from Vagn's Bakery.

every Bar. "Any more of that good pie, honey?" "Pass another one of those wonderful butterflake rolls, Ma!" The whole family will be singing your praises... and Vagn's when you dress up that sumptuous dinner with fresh dinner rolls and mouthwatering pumpkin or mince-meat pies. You'll find a large assortment of cookies, too, at Vagn's Bakery Bar. This quality bakery will give you food for thought—everybody thinks it's delicious!

DISCUSSING a girl friend, a woman said, "I don't know whether she's progressive or conservative. She wears last year's hat, drives this year's car, and lives on next year's income!" You are really wearing the fashions of the future when you choose Gartner's new shipment of orlon dresses and skirts are really style setters. The dresses are in marvelous pastel colors; baby blue, cherry, mint, lilac, beige and white. Detachable collars and vests on some-pleated skirts on many, and a few two-pieceers. Now you can afford to wear pastels and not worry about dry-cleaning bills—just wash these dresses in a jiffy! Orlon skirts with cluster pleats or pleats all around come in gray or beige. Orlon—and Gartner's—will give your wardrobe a very material boost!

POME Written in Eden's Gift Shop on Viewing a Container for Gladiolus. It doesn't seem right to use up good space in the Daily Press for a crockery vase!

But you don't have to be the Wizard of Oz. To see that this vase should be called a vase!

End of poem. But not the end of this ad until I tell you about this beautiful tall vase—dark blue pottery shading into green! Many smaller vases of distinction, too. Low bowls for fruit or flowers come in new shell shapes with matching candlesticks. Deep scallops on others; contrasting linings—chartruse with gray or with black. To shop at Eden's—Oh, that were Paradise enou!

EVERY woman could add a few years to her life—in the new movie "Monkey Business" everybody takes off a few years when an ape discovers the formula for eternal youth by mixing some chemicals in a laboratory. You'll simply scream with delight to watch Cary Grant revert to youth and notice the charms of Marilyn Monroe, an office secretary, for the first time. Ginger Rogers and Charles Coburn round out the splendid cast with an assist by Rudolph the monkey! So many laughs you'll forget to eat your popcorn—at the McLean Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Plan Program Of Thanksgiving

A Thanksgiving program is to be presented before the student bodies of the Gladstone junior and senior high schools next Wednesday afternoon in the high school gymnasium.

The Rev. Rudolph Johnson pastor of the Mission Covenant church, will be the speaker and will use an appropriate theme. There will be selections by a girls trio composed of Louise Klug, Mary Alice Cameron and Mary Jo Bolger and group singing of Thanksgiving and patriotic hymns led by Paul Cowen.

The program is sponsored by the Student Council and Arla Johnson is general chairman.

Schools, both public and parochial, close Wednesday afternoon for a four-day vacation.

Youth Gets Buck With Borrowed Bow

Jimmy Wickman of Keego Harbor, formerly of Gladstone, got a buck with bow and arrow this fall. It is learned, Jimmy borrowed a bow and accompanied a Pontiac family to the Aummins-Atlanta area where he downed his buck the first day. He was the only one in the party to fill his license.

Jimmy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wickman of Glenview Avenue and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Berg, 515 Michigan Avenue, Gladstone.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our neighbors and friends for their sympathy and assistance given us at the time of our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and brother. Particularly are we grateful to those who sent spiritual or floral offerings, offered autos for the service, to Fr. Thomas Andary for his consoling words and to all others who aided in any manner. The memory of these kindnesses will long remain with us.

Signed:

The Family of Anthony Stemas

Smear Tournay Play Resumed

Play in the Holy Name smear tournament will be resumed Monday evening at All Saints parish hall following a week's layoff because of deer season.

Pairings for the evening are as follows: Morris Lierman vs. Albert Wilmette, Andy Vargo vs. Roy LaCrosse, Victor Stock vs. Harvey Gardner, Barney DeHooche vs. Julius Reubens, Phil Richel vs. Gordon Marshall, Ed Leroux vs. Ed Esler, Don Zierke vs. Louis LaComb, Louis Frantz vs. Al Willette, Martin Cassell vs. Andrew Valencia, August Boden vs. Clyde Alwörden and Rene Maskart vs. Alphonse Cretien.

Gladstone Debaters Go To Crystal Falls

A group of nine debaters left early this morning for Crystal Falls to compete in the first of three debate tournaments to be held in the U. P. this season.

Included were Don Brewer, Jerry Gagner, Robert Quarman, Wilfred VanDrese, Mary Jo Bolger, John Lash, Margaret Herzog, Franklin Lash and Quinn Rasmussen. They were accompanied by Debate Coach Leonard Nevendorp.

The question being debated concerns the advisability of Atlantic Pact nations forming a federal union.

A second tournay is to be held at Escanaba on Dec. 13 and the finals will be in Marquette in January.

Brotherhood Will Again Have Supper

The Lutheran Brotherhood will again sponsor its annual church supper on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at the church. Serving will be from 5:30 to 8. Advance ticket sale has been begun and the response indicates that the event will again be well attended. The tickets may be obtained from any member of the Brotherhood.

Committee appointments have been made and the groups are now functioning.

Will Dedicate Two Memorials

Dedication of several gifts as memorials to the late Dr. Gideon Olson is to be made at morning services at 10 Sunday in the First Lutheran church.

Candelabra are being presented to the church by the family of the late pastor and metal vases with stands for either side of the altar are being given by friends and relatives of the Olson family. The vases are of brass with wrought iron stands.

The Rev. Fred Olson of Newberry, brother of Gideon Olson, will deliver the sermon at the service.

Dr. Olson was a former resident of Gladstone and a brother of John A. Olson of this city.

Homemakers Club Meets On Monday

A meeting of the Minnewasca Homemakers Club is scheduled to be held Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Clayton Johnston, 1414 Wisconsin avenue. Each will bring a piece of material for use in making doll clothes.

Denies Guilt In Game Charge

Felix Johnson of Danforth pleaded not guilty to a charge of having a loaded gun in an auto upon arraignment before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg Friday.

Trial in the case was tentatively set for Friday, Dec. 12. Johnson was arrested several days ago by Conservation Officer Ray Roberts who stopped a truck on which Johnson was riding.

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bentley of New York City, are the parents of a baby daughter born on Thursday, November 13. The baby, who has been christened Nancy Lynn, weighed 6 pounds and 10 ounces at birth. Nancy Lynn has two brothers, Michael and Stephen. Mrs. Bentley is the former Marjorie Fulscher, daughter of Mrs. Laura Fulscher.

Mrs. Minnie Payne arrived Friday from Green Bay to visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siebert. Mrs. Payne has returned from Pensacola, Fla., where she visited with Lt. and Mrs. Carl Wussow and family. Mrs. Wussow is the former Dorothy Siebert.

Cecelia Michaels and daughter Catherine returned to Gladstone on Friday after spending a few days in Nahma where they attended funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Beaver, who died shortly after birth on Wednesday.

Miss Iola Haglund, who recently underwent surgery at Augustana Hospital, Chicago, where she is a student nurse, is recuperating at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haglund, 1222 Superior avenue. She was accompanied here by her mother, who visited her while she was hospitalized.

Mrs. James Anderson, city, and Mrs. Ronnie Plutchak, Escanaba, are leaving this weekend for Mercer, Wis., to spend a week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Popko.

Robert Hart has returned to Chicago after spending a week here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hart, and doing some deer hunting. His brother-in-law, Bob Brown, who accompanied him here to hunt is remaining for several more days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kallman and children, Mary and Theodore, have arrived from Washington, D. C., to spend a week with Mrs. John Kallman, mother of James. Kallman, who has been serving in the U. S. Army with rank of first lieutenant, was recently separated from service.

Pre-Holiday Dance—The junior class is sponsoring a Thanksgiving Eve dance at the high school gymnasium Wednesday night.

Rotarians To Fete Emeralds

The Manistique Rotary Club will hold its annual football recognition banquet on Monday evening, Dec. 15, at the Elks Temple, it is announced by O. J. Schuster, general chairman. The banquet is scheduled for 7.

Members of the 1952 Manistique high school varsity football team and their coaching staff will be guests at the banquet and program. Fathers of football players also are eligible to attend the event.

Both the local Lions Club and the Manistique Quarterback Club have been invited to attend the banquet-program and join with Rotarians in extending tribute to the Emeralds, champions this year of the Great Lakes Conference.

A member of the coaching staff at Michigan State College will be the principal speaker. The program also will include the showing of a film on the Michigan State-Michigan University game. Other high school athletes, including reserve gridgers, are invited to attend the program which will follow the banquet.

Dinner music will be provided by the Swing Kings and there also will be group singing. Dr. E. J. Bremner, Rotary president, will open the meeting and Schuster will preside as toastmaster.

Large Audience Attends Booster Concert Thursday

An audience which packed the high school auditorium Thursday evening listened to 120 high school musicians, members of the junior and senior bands, present their first annual booster concert. The concert was the first of three to be offered during the 1952-53 school year under the direction of Joseph Giovanni, band director.

The first section of the program was given by the junior band, approximately 40 members of which had not handled musical instruments prior to last June.

Following a trumpet selection by Gordon Moore and William Morden, accompanied by Nick Babeladeli, the senior band concluded the concert offering with nine numbers.

Both bands scored a hit with the audience, largest to attend a high school band concert here.

Thanksgiving

The United States is the world's only nation which has set one day aside each year to extend thanks to God.

In our observance of this unique holiday, let us not forget its true significance...and express our appreciation for physical and moral blessings with some of the spiritual fervor and sincerity which inspired the Pilgrims on that bleak autumn long ago.

Our material blessings are rich compared to their miserable state...yet in moral vigor and spiritual strength how well do we compare to the Pilgrims?

Two Hurt When Car Hits Horse

A Highland Park, Mich., mother and daughter were injured at 12:45 a. m. yesterday when the car in which they were passengers struck and killed a horse on US-2, two miles east of Manistique.

The mother, Mrs. Sylvia Heinonen, 42, sustained a cut forehead and a fracture clavicle. She was still a patient at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital late yesterday afternoon. The daughter, Edith, 11, incurred minor cuts on her head and was discharged following hospital treatment.

Mrs. Heinonen's husband, Walter Otto Heinonen, driver, was uninjured.

Heinonen told Manistique state police that he was traveling east behind another car when a horse suddenly jumped in front of his vehicle. Unable to stop, the Heinonen machine crashed into the horse, killing it. The animal belonged to Werner Ammann.

Estimated damage to the car was $600.

Social

Neighborhood Council

The Neighborhood Home Demonstration Council met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hastings, 200 N. First St. for luncheon on Thursday, Nov. 20. Mrs. William Hamill and Mrs. Herbert Krause gave the Christmas lesson on kaleidoscopes and aprons. The next lesson, which will feature Christmas wreaths and candles, will be held at the home of Mrs. Alvin Carlstrom, 118 S. Second St. on Dec. 4.

Pink and Blue Shower

Mrs. Fred LaBrasseur, 134 N. Houghton Ave., entertained Wednesday evening at her home with a pink and blue shower in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Loren LaBrasseur.

Cards were in play during the evening, with honors going to the following:

500, Mrs. Maude Carefelle, first; and Mrs. Fred St. John, second; canasta, Mrs. Adolor Bouchard, first; and Mrs. Donald McKenzie, second; bunco, Mrs. Harold Chartier, first; and Mrs. Wilbur Chartier, second; doghouse, Mrs. Philip Bouchard, high; and Mrs. Peter Karbon, low. The guest prize was awarded to Mrs. Olive Crawford.

Lunch was served later.

Lutherans To Hold Service Of Thanks Thanksgiving Day

A service of thanks and praise will be held at Zion Lutheran Church on Thanksgiving Day, beginning at 9:15 a. m., it is announced by the Rev. G. A. Herbert, pastor.

The service is being held early so that preparations can be made for observance of the rest of the holiday in the homes of parishioners.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. James H. Fyvie, will sing the anthem, "We Thank Thee, Lord", by Bortniansky.

Big Flashing Meteor Sighted In 4 States

(By The Associated Press) A meteor flashed across the southwestern sky last night and suddenly disintegrated in a blaze of white light turning night into day at some places. It was seen in at least four states.

The Oklahoma City Weather Bureau said from the varied reports it had received there was no doubt the fireball was a meteor.

Reports of the object came from Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Colorado.

Hunter Fined For Failure To Affix Metal Tag To Deer

Ora Ruthruff, of Onondaga, Mich., paid a fine of $10 and costs of $7.50 in Manistique justice court yesterday for failure to affix a metal tag to the buck he had shot.

He was arrested in Thompson township Thursday by Conservation Officer Ernest Derwin.

Pass Quota In Yule Party Fund

The campaign to raise funds for Manistique's annual Christmas party for youngsters of the Schoolcraft area has gone over the $750 quota set several weeks ago, it is announced by Fred D. Heltman, secretary of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

Additional mail contributions are still being received, Heltman said, but money in excess of that required for this year's party will be set aside for the 1953 event. A total of $50 was left over from last year's party.

The Santa Claus party will be held Saturday, Dec. 6, and it is expected that approximately 2,000 youngsters will crowd Manistique, many accompanied by their parents, to receive the gifts of candy and coloring books to be distributed. Details of the event, however, are still to be worked out by the committee in charge.

Candy and coloring books have been ordered.

Also on hand for the event are a Santa Claus suit purchased last year and a public address system bought last summer.

City Briefs

Mrs. R. J. Besner left Friday evening for Minneapolis where she will visit friends for a few days before proceeding to Ladysmith, Wis., to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin. During her absence Mrs. Edward Mathson will be in charge of the local selective service office.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swaer, of Garden, are the parents of a daughter born Nov. 19 at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The baby weighed 9 pounds and 11½ ounces at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyce, of 3042 Bellwood St., Columbus, O., are the parents of a daughter, Jan Patricia, born Nov. 2. The infant weighed 5 pounds and 14 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce are former Manistique residents. He was first administrator of the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and Mrs. Boyce was employed as a nurse there.

Congressman Buys Interest In Radio Station At Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP)—The purchase by Alvin M. Bentley, newly-elected Republican Congressman from Michigan's Eighth District, of one third interest in a Saginaw broadcasting station has been approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

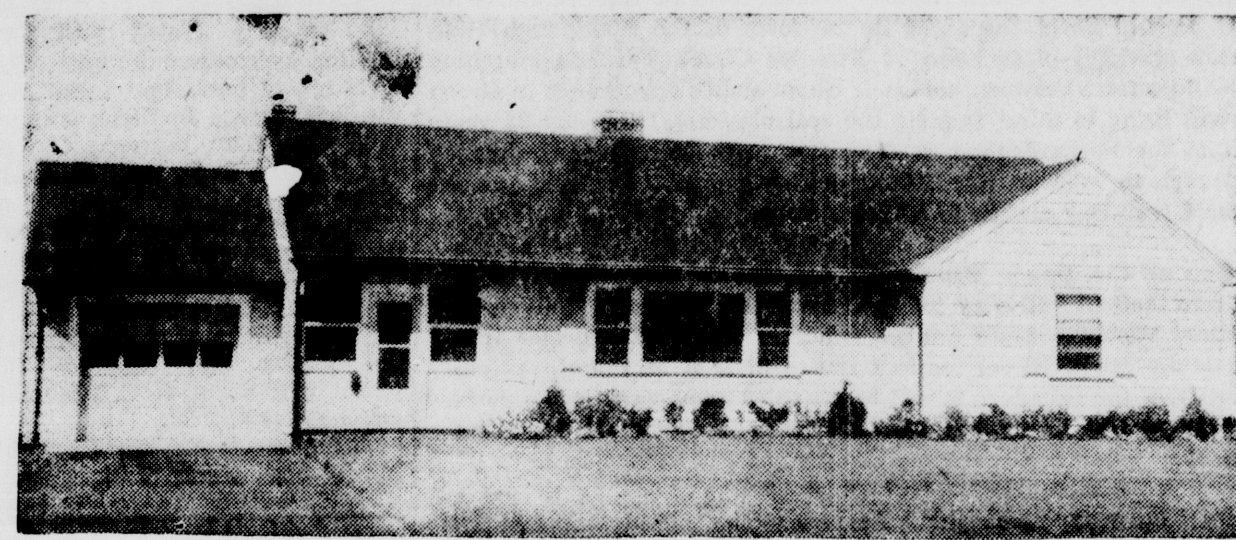

Bentley, 34-year-old millionaire from Owosso, bought an interest in WKNX and WKNX-TV in Saginaw for $14,417 last Aug. 27.

He is expected to serve as a vice president and member of the station's board of directors.

FOR BETTER HOMES

BUILD-REPAIR-REMODEL

FOR BETTER LIVING

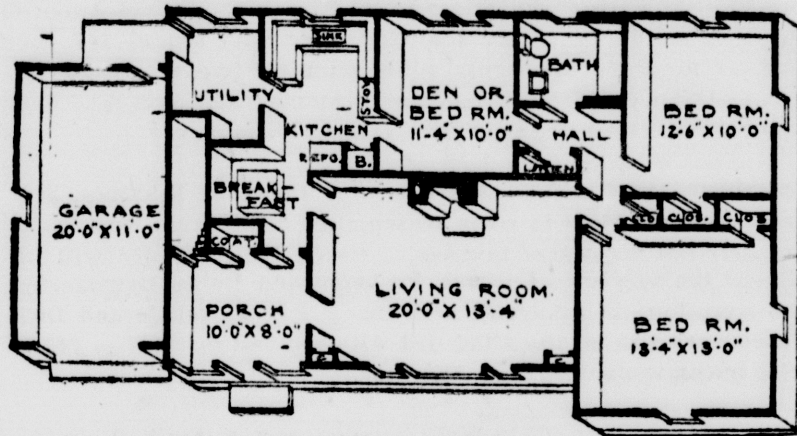

The Casper

A Clean-Cut Modern Design

Rooms Seven
Bedroom Three
Closets Six
Cubage, House 23,000 ft.
Garage 4,000 ft.
Dimensions 46' x 26'
Garage 21' x 11'6"

One of the most attractive features of "The Casper," from both the exterior and the interior, is the large picture window in the front wall of the living room. Measuring 20' x 13' 4", the living and dining room is very charming; it has a handsome fireplace in the back wall and china cabinets built into both front corners. The room is planned so that it can serve as both a living and dining area.

With dimensions of 46' x 26', the house itself has a cubage of 23,000 feet. Measuring 21' x 11' 6", the one car garage has a cubage of 4,000 feet. At least a 90 foot lot would be required to hold both the house and attached garage. Should you decide to build a detached garage, you'd need a larger lot.

In addition to two large bedrooms in the right wing of the house, "The Casper" has an 11' 4" x 10' room which is located between the kitchen and bath and which can serve as a third bedroom, a den or a guest room. Both regular bedrooms reap the benefits of cross ventilation while the optional bedroom enjoys good light and ventilation from double windows in the back wall.

Carefully arranged so that all appliances, tools, etc., are within easy reach of the housewife, the kitchen is strictly a work center. Set apart so that it actually is a room by itself, the breakfast area can be used for all informal meals.

Instead of opening on an entry hall, the front door of "The Casper" leads to an enclosed porch which can be just as attractive and useful as you want to make it. Perhaps you'd like to use this room as a play area, a music or TV room—or maybe you'd prefer to utilize this space as your dining room and thus leave the living room free for purely social usage.

Located at the back of the house and next to the kitchen, the utility room receives ample light and ventilation from one window in the back wall. Direct access to the back yard is provided by the service entry in the left wall. A small porchway protects both this service entry and the back door into the 20' x 11' garage.

The abundance of conveniently located closets in "The Casper" is certain to delight the lady of the house. She'll be especially pleased by the spacious linen closet opening on the hallway just across from the bathroom. She'll also put to good use the general purpose closet opening on the hallway between the two bedrooms; this closet will prove to be especially practical if it is lined with cedar.

While the only installation that you must have made in the basement is the heating plant, you'll welcome the large amount of "extra" space which you can transform into a family recreation room—or perhaps a workshop for that home handyman—and still have room left for that deep freezer and for general storage. The heating plant should, of course, be installed under the living room but choice of location for any other basement "installation" is up to you.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 15, Daily Press and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

ESCANABA HOCKEY TRYOUTS—Three of the four Canadian hockey stalwarts who participated in tryouts conducted by the Escanaba Hawks on Marquette's artificial ice rink this week and may be seen in the Hawk lineup when the Northern Michigan Hockey league schedule opens. They are, left to right: Hubert "Ham" Hamilton, Jr., of Kenora, Ont.; George Schultz, of Winnipeg, Man.; Allan Humphrey and Leonard "Len" Webster, both of Kenora, Ont. Humphrey did not try out. Schultz and Webster played with the Fort William Hurricanes and Hamilton played with the Port Arthur Flyers last year. Ten local players also participated in the tryouts under the supervision of Hawk Coach Mark Olson. The NM season opens Dec. 15. (Escanaba Press Photo)

Nahma Tops Redskins 40-32 For 24th Win

HERMANVILLE—The longest high school basketball victory string in the Upper Peninsula was extended to 24 games here last night when Nahma defeated the Hermansville Redskins 40-32.

For Coach Harold "Babe" Anderson's Arrows it was the third straight this season after 21 consecutive victories and the U. P. Class E championship last season.

Scoring burden fell on the shoulders of Wendell Roddy who pumped in nine field goals and four free throws for 22 points for Nahma.

Schultz paced the losers with 14 points. Nahma took a 10-5 lead at the end of the first period and maintained an edge throughout the game.

Arkansas Grid Coach Hands In Resignation

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (P)—Otis Douglas, who has had three years of rough sailing, announced Friday that he is giving up the football ship at the University of Arkansas.

Already the speculative list of possible successors to the head coaching position of the Southwest Conference school is a long one, headed by the name of Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Bryant, a native of Arkansas who played his football at Alabama and more recently has skyrocketed the University of Kentucky to grid fame, is reported to cherish a desire to return to his home state.

Douglas has been unable to make the professional style of football he learned as a star lineman for the Philadelphia Eagles click in collegiate circles. He said his resignation would be effective Jan. 1 when his 3-year contract expires.

Hermansville gained a measure of revenge in the preliminary by winning a 46-40 Bee team game.

Tigers, Browns Talking Trades

DETROIT (P)—The St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers are talking trade again.

Bill Veeck, Browns owner, called at Briggs Stadium yesterday and held a long session with General Manager Charlie Gehringer and Manager Fred Hutchinson, but apparently no trades jelled. At least there was no announcement of any.

Veeck conceded to newsmen he had mentioned the possible swap of Second Basemen Owen Friend for a Detroit pitcher, but didn't name the pitcher for reporters. The Browns and Tigers did considerable trading last season, swapping a total of eight players so the Tigers would wind up with Pitcher Ned Garver and the Browns with Outfielder Vic Wertz. Detroit ran its roster of rookies to eight yesterday with the signing of two Detroiters, Richard Wright, 18-year-old Wayne University first baseman, and Frank Winkler, a 21-year-old semi-pro catcher.

They will be taken along to the Detroit spring training camp at Lakeland, Fla., along with these six rookies:

Catcher George Kenney, Ashland, Pa.; Outfielder John Szyrak, Toledo, O.; Pitchers Donald Quinn, 18, Vernon, N. Y., and James Smith, Fitzgerald, Ga., and Second Basemen Douglas Driver, Avondale, Ga., and Ed Sheffield, Mobile, Ala.

The Upper Peninsula will be well represented by fans in Green Bay tomorrow as the Packers go for their fourth straight NFL victory against the Dallas Texans. But a more official representative of the U. P. will be at the game in the form of the Stambaugh High School's crack 64-piece band. Director Chuck Varner's marching unit will perform between halves. Stambaugh's appearance in Green Bay will bring to mind (among the real oldtimers) the day 33 years ago that the Packers, then in their first year of operation, invaded Stambaugh to take on the Hilltopper City team. Curley Lambeau led the Green Bay eleven to a 17-0 victory.

One of the Upper Peninsula's outstanding representatives in college football will play his final game for Marquette University against Michigan State College today. Jim Pozza, former Iron Mountain High School football star, will lead Marquette as co-captain of the squad. It will be his third game against the powerful Spartans. He has been a regular at Marquette for three seasons.

Paul Baldwin, ex-Escanaba Eskymo football, basketball and baseball letterman, led Northern Michigan College gridgers in the scoring department this past season. He scored three touchdowns and kicked 15 of 22 extra-point attempts for 33 points. Axel Anderson, junior end, scored twice for the Wild Cats who scored 147 points against 73 for their opponents while winning five of six starts. Baldwin, Anderson, Jim Hirn, John Beaumier and Bob St. Martin were awarded letters recently by Coach C. V. Money.

Marquette, new basketball foe for the Escanaba Eskymos, suffered a serious blow to early season cage hopes when two regulars were lost because of injuries. Coach Bruce Basler will be without the services of Chuck Voskamp and Rollie Baumgarten who were hurt in a hayride accident. Pat McAuliffe and Dick Pichette are also on the ailing list with football injuries. Marquette opens tonight against Shawano.

At Michigan State, Billy Wells has now carried the ball 506 yards on 107 attempts for an average of 4.7 per trip. He has scored five touchdowns, completed one of two pass attempts for 14 yards and caught three passes for 62 yards.

Trenary, Perkins In Central League Wins

ROCK—Trenary shot out to a 14-7 first quarter lead here last night and outscored Rock in every quarter to post a 50-32 opening win. It was the first game for both teams.

Perkins made a successful home stand against Bark River last night, rallying to trip the Broncos 49-38.

Trenary scoring was well distributed with four cagers hitting in double figures. Johnson set the pace with a dozen points. High point honors were salvaged by Rock's Hill with 14 markers.

Bark River ran up a 16-13 halftime lead over Perkins but fell behind 30-29 at the end of the third period. Joe Vandecavey tossed in seven points in the last period to lead Perkins in a 19-point scoring burst that withered the Broncos in the closing minutes.

DeKeyser of Perkins led both teams in scoring with 18 points. Vandecavey scored 13 and Jim Vallier 12 for the winners while Jim LaVigne bucketed 11 for Bark River.

The Perkins reserves won 43-30 in the preliminary. Rock's Bee team beat Trenary's reserves 51-28.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York—Paddy De Marco, 136, Brooklyn, outpointed Henry Davis, 135½, Honolulu, 10.
Portland, Ore.—Earl Turner, 160, Richmond, Calif., stopped Eddie Kahut, 160, Woodburn, Ore., 8.

In the American conference, the pace-setting Cleveland Browns will attempt to protect their slim lead against Philadelphia, tied for second with the New York Giants. The Giants invade Washington.

Green Bay's Packers figure to stay in the title picture by beating the winless—and homeless—Dallas Texans.

Picking the top game from this schedule-maker's dream depends on what team you are rooting for but from a spectator standpoint the No. 1 contest is likely to be at Los Angeles. A crowd of 60,000 is expected to see the Rams challenge the 49ers for the lead.

The game figures to be a battle between the Rams norm Van Brocklin, the passing wizard, and the legs of rookie Hugh McElhenny and Joe Perry of the 49ers. Van Brocklin is the league's No. 1 passer with 49 completions in 115 attempts for an average gain of 8.27 yards. Against the Bears last week he tossed touchdown aeries of 84, 61, 56 and 20 yards.

The 49ers have picked up 1,500 yards this season with 589 credited seconds over the first Mercedes piloted by Karl Kling of Germany.

Well behind are the other two with Hermann Lang, Germany and John Fitch, Stamford, Conn., at the wheels.

The four Lincolns, driven by Johnny Mantz, Los Angeles; Walter Faulkner Long Beach, Calif.; Chuck Stevenson, Lynwood, Calif., and Capt. Bob Korf, Wright Field, Ohio, were bunched together in the lead with only seven and a half minutes difference in their times.

Their nearest competitor, a 1951 Chrysler with Reginald McFee, Rochester, N. Y., at the wheel, trailed Korf by over ten minutes.

The race winds up Sunday at Ciudad Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Tex., a short run of 370 kilometers (230 miles) from Chihuahua City.

Four 1953 Lincolns had piled up a commanding lead in the stock car category and looked to have that race to themselves.

Today's two laps were the 400 kilometers 250 miles from Durango Parral and another 300 kilometer 188 miles from Parral to Chihuahua City. It is all straight level highway providing the chance for the top speeds of the race.

Italian ace Giovanni Bracco is the lead off man in the sports class in his powerful 1952 Ferrari. First in the general standings, he has a lead of seven minutes and nine

Trojan, Esky Quints Will Clash Tonight

A capacity crowd will jam Bonifas gymnasium tonight when high school basketball takes over the local sports spotlight with an intra-city clash between the St. Joe Trojans and the Escanaba Eskymos.

There will be no reserved seats for the game and the ticket office at the gym will open for the sale of general seat admissions at 6 p. m. A preliminary game between the Trojan and Eskymos Bee teams will begin at 7. The main game starts at 8:30.

The game marks the first outing of both teams. The Trojans are embarking on a long slate of Class C action while Escanaba begins the Class B cage trail.

District Champions

Both schools are defending district champions in the respective classes. Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joe cagers climaxed a highly successful season by copping the Class C district crown at Norway. The Trojans lost in the regional finals at Negaunee.

Escanaba, coached this year for the first time by Burt Gustafson, last season copped the Class B district title at Menominee. The Eskymos were eliminated in the regional meet, however. Gustafson succeeds Steve Baltic who resigned at the close of the 1951-52 campaign.

Of the two squads, the Eskymos were hardest hit in number of graduation losses. Five regulars, Jim Heiden, Warren Johnston, Paul Gunderman, Tom Smith and Paul Baldwin, graduated last year.

Two lettermen of last season are handicapped by injuries suffered in football. Con Michael is still on the inactive list and George Bartley may see limited action with a bad knee.

Will See Action

Available for action tonight will be Fred Boddy, John Peterson, Bill LeMire, Arni Dunathan, Dick Peterson, Bill McGovern, Paul Davidson, Jim Bolm, Tom Greigore, Pat McDonough and Paul Menard.

St. Joe has a nucleus of returning lettermen around which this year's team will develop. Only two regulars were lost by graduation last year, Pete Kutches and Bill Baker.

Getting the starting nods from Coach St. Germain tonight will be Bob Sendenburgh, John Marinac, Jim Gravelle, Dick Cass and Jerry McDonough. All are lettermen who saw considerable action last season.

Also likely to see action are David Hirn, Bill Maycunich, Jim Zimmerman, Dick Bryson, Dan Marsicek, Tom Millington and Tom Brien. Although lacking the high scoring threat of Kutches, all-state and second-team all-American cager last season, the Trojans will be better balanced and possess greater rebound power this season.

Game officials will be George Rudness of Ishpeming and Paul Meli of Negaunee.

Paddy DeMarco Decisions Davis

NEW YORK (P)—Paddy DeMarco is gunning for a title shot at lightweight champ Jimmy Carter after his unanimous 10-round decision over Honolulu's Henry Davis Friday night.

DeMarco, loser of his last two to Arthur King and Orlando Zuleta, looked more like his old bully boy self in punching his way past Davis at Madison Square Garden. All three officials gave DeMarco the fight.

Davis was on the deck from a questionable "knockdown" in the third as he seemed to slip in an attempt to back away from a light punch by DeMarco. Referee Ray Miller ruled it a knockdown, but never had a chance to count before the bell rang.

Only 3,418, paying $8,935, strayed from their television sets to see DeMarco's attempt to regain a top ranking in the 135 pound class and Davis's New York debut. They didn't see too much.

Head to head most of the time with punches landing on elbows, shoulders, back bones and gloves, the boys seldom fought out in the open.

Pro Grid League May Be Tied Up In Knots

NEW YORK (P)—The National Football League could well be all tied up in knots after tomorrow's games with four teams deadlocked for first place in the National conference and three in the American division.

You probably could name your own odds but this would be the situation if New York, Philadelphia, Chicago Bears, Green Bay and Los Angeles will win:

San Francisco, Detroit, Green Bay and Los Angeles would be tied for the National conference lead, each with six victories and three defeats. The American conference would have Cleveland, New York and Philadelphia all-square, also each with a 6-3 record.

Two Tied

Going into tomorrow's games, San Francisco and Detroit are tied for first place in the National division. The 49ers meet the surging champion Los Angeles Rams, on the comeback trail after dropping three of their first four games. The Detroit Lions journey to Wright Field, where the Bears have lost three of their four home games.

In the American conference, the pace-setting Cleveland Browns will attempt to protect their slim lead against Philadelphia, tied for second with the New York Giants. The Giants invade Washington.

Expect Rain As Wolves, Bucks Clash Today

COLUMBUS, O. (P)—Ohio State and Michigan clash today in a toss-up Big Ten football battle that may jolt the Wolverines out of contention for the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl.

High winds and rain Friday and early today indicated the game might be played in a downpour. But the weatherman said today there was only a possibility of "very light" rain for the traditional gridiron war.

Ohio State officials said the stadium turf had been covered for the past 24 hours. Given fair weather, the Buckeyes are expected to put Michigan's vaunted defense to a stern test with their potent passing game headed by quarterback John Borton.

Even if the rains come, it can't be as bad as the conditions for the 1950 Michigan-Ohio State game. That one was played in a howling snowstorm and is now down on the history books as the "Blizzard Bowl."

The Wolverines won, 9-2, without a single offensive score. They blocked a punt for a touchdown and scored a safety.

If Michigan whips Ohio today and Wisconsin trips Minnesota, it will be up to the Big Ten athletic directors to decide who tries for the roses. But if Michigan slips and the Badgers win, it's Wisconsin to the Rose Bowl without an argument. Wisconsin's only conference loss was to Ohio State, 23-14.

an Pitcher Is Signed By Phillies

DETROIT (P)—Tom Lawton, 22-year-old Michigan State College pitcher, has been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies. They didn't disclose if a bonus was involved.

Lawson, a Detroit who stands six-feet-two and weighs 187 pounds, was signed by Scout Clare Whelpley and is scheduled to report to the Phillies' Terre Haute Farm in the Three I League.

Lawson had a slim 2-2 record and an earned run average of 3.61 at MSC last season. He won two and lost one in 1951.

Underdog Wins Grid Crown In Detroit

DETROIT (P)—St. Mary of Redford, an underdog, is high school football champion of Detroit. The Catholic League champions came from behind last night to defeat University of Detroit high school 13-6, in the annual Goodfellow game in Briggs Stadium before 25,776 rain-soaked and frigid fans. Rose Bowl Bids At Stake In Gridiron Games Today

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (P)—At least one—and possibly both—of the teams that will play in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day will be determined today, the final big Saturday of the college football season.

Two of the nation's undefeated, untied squads—Southern California and UCLA—will go at it before more than 100,000 spectators at Los Angeles and millions of TV viewers for the Pacific Coast title and the Rose Bowl bid that goes with it.

The Big 10 representative also may be decided. Wisconsin, which hasn't won a league championship since 1912, needs only to beat Minnesota to do no worse than tie for the title.

Could End Tied

If the Badgers win and Michigan defeats Ohio State—a tougher assignment—the two winners will finish deadlocked and a conference vote will be necessary. Since Michigan was in the Tournament of Roses two years ago, the vote probably would go to the Badgers.

If both lose, however, and Purdue whips Indiana, the Boiler-makers and Minnesota will wind up tied for the crown. This also would necessitate a vote to decide who goes to Pasadena.

The Southern California-UCLA game, scheduled to get under way at 5 p. m., EST, has been rated pretty much of a toss-up all week. Both are single wing outfits, have scoring potential but rely mostly on defense, and are spearheaded by top-notch quarterbacks—Jimmy Sears of the Trojans and Paul Cameron of the Uclans.

See Few TDs

It boils down to the fact that the team which can tally at all will be at a great advantage, since the experts agree there isn't going to be much scoring.

The only other major bowl that still is undecided on the teams is the Orange, and that should be clarified somewhat.

Pitt, Alabama and Syracuse all are in the running, with the last named having what should be a romp against Fordham. This will be the first time in many a year New York has seen a team that has bowl possibilities.

Pitt and Alabama both have rough tasks. The Panthers go against Penn State, once a bowl candidate, but now an also-ran.

The Nittany Lions still can give anyone a battle, though. Alabama, beaten last week, has the most unenviable assignment—Maryland. The Terps, downed by Mississippi last week, will be in a nasty mood. But Bama has a solid outfit, and should give a good account of itself.

Spartans Favored

Michigan State and Georgia Tech, the other two major unbeaten teams, which rank 1-2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, figure to win in a breeze against Marquette and Florida State, respectively. Mississippi, Georgia Tech's Sugar Bowl opponent, is idle, as is Texas, which plays Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl. The Vols go into action against Kentucky.

The Big Seven and Southern Conference crowds both probably will be settled. Oklahoma must get by Nebraska to win the Big Seven and Duke has to beat North Carolina for the Southern Conference championship. The Sooners and Blue Devils rate heavy favorites.

The big game in the East pits Yale against Harvard in the 69th renewal of this ancient Ivy League fixture. The Elis are the choice.

Bill Rauls filled his license on the first day of this hunting season when he killed a 6 point buck in the vicinity of his cabin on Mahskeeke Lake.
Hilmer Larson was also successful on the opening. The buck he killed in the Moss Lake area was a 6 pointer.
Charles Whitney of Detroit, who was with a party of hunters at Frank Hruska's cabin got a spikehorn while hunting up near Skeele Lake.
Bill Schafer left on Tuesday for Milwaukee and had a nice 7 point buck he got on Monday to take back with him.
Kenneth Ritter has returned to Evanston, Ill. following a visit with his family and a few days hunting in this area.
Fritz Genuenden killed a spikehorn buck on the opening day while hunting from his father's cabin on Billy Goods Lake.

An eight point buck, weighing 185 pounds, was bagged by Henry Jokela on Monday morning at Parker Spur.
Maini Halmoeja, another Rock hunter, also succeeded in getting his buck for this season.
Hunters at Ray Cornell's Camp and Cook's Camp located east of Rock report that each camp has claimed three bucks.

Michigan Government Braced For Worst Crisis In 20 Years

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING (AP)—Michigan's government is bracing for its biggest crisis in 20 years.
Not since the Great Depression wrecked the state's property tax collection and left it stranded without funds, has the state faced such a financial morass.
And to meet this emergency—one which requires the best thinking and utmost cooperation—state government is tired, despairing and stalemated.
House Divided
It should be prepared to dig up millions more of tax dollars within a few weeks after January 1—but no one thinks it can be done and there is no one at hand to breathe new life and determination and faith into the attempt.
Instead, our administrators sit and pick sourly at old sores.
The main source of despair in state government is the fact that for the fifth straight year we seem to face a house divided—divided between Democratic Gov. Williams and the Republican dominated Legislature.

Frustrated for four years, the GOP gave its all this year to get rid of Williams. It seems to have failed and the defeat has been dispiriting and enervating.
The Republican lawmakers sigh wearily and say "Well, here we go around again." And Williams probably will sit back with a club and be ready to whack.
Builds Himself Up
Of course, the governor may come back from his West Indian vacation refreshed and revitalized—prepared to master-mind a solution to which all can agree. But don't bet any money on it.
More likely, he will come back refreshed for two years of hope-wrecking designed to build himself up for a shot at the United States Senate in two years.
And yet, in the background, everyone knows that the state will be some $75,000,000 in debt January 1 and maybe $90,000,000 by next June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., has warned that many—and possibly all—public schools may have to close in the next six months if they can't beg, borrow or steal some more money.
The state hasn't got it to give them. And the state hasn't any idea how to get it.
Out On A Limb
Williams has gone so far out on the limb with his corporation profits tax plan that it will be virtually impossible to back down. The GOP Legislature has gone so far out on the limb in opposition to that plan it will be virtually impossible to back down.
The only other feasible plan to raise enough money is a personal income tax—and that's political dynamite.
The GOP had hopes the Higgins Tax Study Commission might find the answer—but it has been pretty well discredited by three of its strongest backers, the Michigan Education Association, the Michigan Municipal League and the League of Women Voters.
The capitol's best financial brains are disgusted with the proposal that the state ask business to pay its corporation franchise fee six months early to tide us over the hump. That might solve things now, but by next September the mess would be worse.
The state is paying the price of four years of fiddling with bowtie knives while the house burned down.
And all you get from the fire fighters is a sad, tired look.

Two Persons Killed, Two Hurt In Crash

A one-car automobile accident two miles south of the Delta-Marquette county line this morning at 4:45 took the lives of two persons—a Bay City man and his daughter-in-law—and brought critical injuries to two others in the same family when their car went out of control and hit a culvert.
The dead are:
Ralph Temple, 61, who was killed instantly; and Mrs. Clarabelle Temple, 35, who died enroute to St. Mary Hospital, Marquette.
The injured parties are Mrs. Pauline Temple, wife of the dead man, who is critical at St. Francis Hospital with a fractured pelvis, dislocated hip and severe lacerations of the face; and Roger Temple, 38, stepson of the injured woman and son of Ralph Temple, the first victim. He suffered a fractured leg.

Marquette State Police reported that the Temple car, driven by Roger Temple, was traveling north on US-41 early this morning when the driver lost control of the car because of excessive speed and a slippery condition of the road. The car, they said after inquiry of the injured persons, then struck the culvert and rolled over several times. The vehicle was demolished.
Fog and mist covered the highway at the early morning hour, police said.
The dead man was taken to the Anderson funeral home in Escanaba and Mrs. Pauline Temple was rushed to St. Francis Hospital. A Marquette ambulance took the Mrs. Clarabelle Temple and her husband, Roger, to St. Mary Hospital.
The party was enroute to Traverse Bay in Houghton county on a hunting stay, State Police reported.
It was reported that the dead man was wearing the badge of deputy sheriff of Bay county.

Mrs. John Card Dies In Chicago

Mrs. Anna Card, 81, widow of the late John F. Card who was a co-founder of the Marble-Card Electric Company of Gladstone, passed away late this morning at Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago. She had been a patient there since Nov. 11.
A prominent member of the Gladstone community, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. G. Westcott of Gladstone.
Further details and funeral arrangements have not yet been disclosed.

Early Marriage OK, Says Writer

LONDON (AP)—Girls should be permitted to marry at 15 if they are biologically ready, Dr. Marie Stopes, famed writer on marital problems, has suggested to a royal commission on marriage and divorce.
However, she said yesterday, she would not encourage such early marriages, she just thinks they should be legally possible.
"The present age limit of 16 is too high and ignores the biological tendency to marriage," Dr. Stopes said in a memorandum.
The expert, who is 72, said one-third or one quarter of Britain's girls are ready for marriage at 15.
"I've discovered that, biologically, British women are three main types: those who are fully mature and ready for childbearing at 15 or 16; the larger number—the average type—ready for marriage about 18 to 21, and those who can be married but who are not sexually mature until the age 27 to 30.
"Many of our grandmothers were happy brides at the age of 16 and even 15. When women are biologically capable of bearing a child, they should be legally capable of marrying."
It is estimated that between 1940 and 1950 U. S. population increased 15 per cent and church membership 34 per cent.

Choices For Ike's Cabinet Praised By Both Parties

appointments went to men reportedly favored by Taft, although Humphrey was honorary chairman of a Taft committee in 1948.
Bolter Critical
Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted the Republican party to back Stevenson and now calls himself an independent, commented: "The latest batch of Eisenhower appointments is but a continuation of placing reactionaries in complete control of his administration. . . . Eisenhower apparently believes in placing big business in control of the government."
In an indirect comment, former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said he hopes the Eisenhower cabinet "doesn't go too much big business." Morgenthau, who served under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, told reporters in Tucson, Ariz., he was "a little bit worried" about the possible make-up of the cabinet.
Sensors Favorable
Reaction from other members of the Senate, which must act on confirmation of such appointments, included:
Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) the Democratic vice presidential nominee, said he was not acquainted with Brownell and Humphrey but praised Stassen as having "the right outlook on the mutual aid program."
Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said he considered Brownell and Stassen well qualified, but did not know Humphrey.
Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) praised Brownell's choice, said Stassen was "acceptable" and did not know Humphrey.
Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said he approved the appointments of Brownell and Stassen.

Michigan Senate Battle Watched

ate, the Republicans would have 49 votes, Morse has not said with whom he will line up.
But without Potter and with Morse in the Democratic column, the GOP would have only 47 members as against 48 for the Democrats. The Democrats then would retain Senate control.
No Recount Asked
The Michigan Board of Canvassers, which yesterday certified Potter as its new U. S. Senator, was expected to get official notice of Potter's election to the Senate within 48 hours. An elections subcommittee spokesman said the only other thing which could delay dispatch of the official notice to Washington would be an official request for a recount by Moody.
Moody said in Denver he had made no request for a recount but "naturally, I'll be interested to see what the committee finds" in its Michigan investigation.
Potter, a legless World War II veteran, would become a full-fledged senator as soon as the official certification arrived.

Mystery Of Swaying Light Fixture Solved

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The mysteriously swinging light fixture which drew hundreds of onlookers to a vacant cafe building here is no longer moving through its 18-inch arcs.
A caretaker joining the "experts" yesterday, merely shut off a nearby heat register and things, including the fixture, turned quiet.
The riddle developed when seven other similar fixtures in the structure failed to join the "swinging session."

Groucho Takes Care Of Daughter Melinda

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Groucho Marx is going to take care of his 6-year-old daughter, Melinda, for awhile.
Marx's divorced wife, Kay Marie Marx, is ill, and signed an agreement which a court approved yesterday, giving the TV and radio comedian custody until she recovers.
Mrs. Marx was granted custody at the divorce hearing in 1950.

Two Top Labor Groups Pilotless

men are chosen to head the AFL and CIO, organized labor's new leadership faces a new era.
Merger Up Again
Murray and Green were in the prime of their years when the Democrats took over the national administration 20 years ago. Working in general harmony with the administration, they saw the labor movement take some of its greatest strides as they grew old in their jobs. Coinciding with their deaths was the election of the first Republican administration since 1932.

One top union official, declining use of his name, said it was too early to make any predictions about the future course of the divided labor movement under new leaders. But he said the death of Murray and Green might have real implications in repeated attempts to explore the feasibility of CIO-AFL union. Such attempts have proved entirely fruitless since the split 17 years ago.
The AFL claims a membership of eight million, the CIO six million. If the prospect of unity is to be enhanced, it will depend a good deal on whom these two big labor groups choose as their next presidents.

Meany Top Prospect

Green had been ailing for months and much of his work passed into the hands of George Meany, 58-year-old secretary-treasurer since 1940. Meany in effect has been running the AFL, with frequent contact with Green, for a year or more. It is this fact which makes Meany the most frequently mentioned prospect for AFL president.
The AFL Executive Council is expected to meet soon after Green's funeral next Monday. The council will likely designate a president to serve until the AFL annual convention next year.
George Harrison, 57-year-old president of the AFL's Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, is also mentioned as a possible successor to Green. However, there was always a possibility some other AFL leader might be selected.
Allan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president, and Walter Reuther, head of the CIO Auto Workers, are generally conceded to be front-runners for the job which Murray's death left vacant. Murray's successor probably will be named at the CIO annual convention in Atlantic City, scheduled for this week but postponed upon Murray's death to Dec. 1.

Five False Alarms Here In Two Nights

Escanaba fire department has been called out five times in the past two nights in response to false alarms, turned in at fire alarm boxes by malicious pranksters.
Last night two false alarms were received from one box, one at 7:25 p. m. and the other at 10:20 p. m., at Third Avenue South and 13th Street. The third alarm was from a box at Second Avenue North and North 12th Street.
The firemen also were called at 11:16 p. m. to St. Joseph's Church where gas fumes were coming from a water heater. There was no damage.

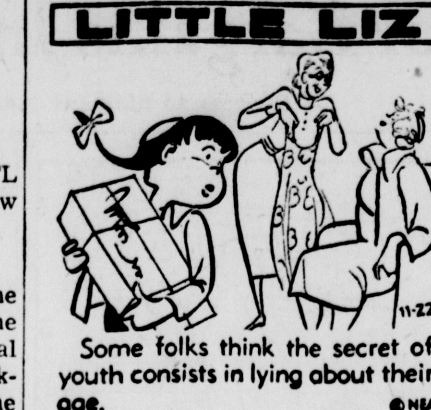

Democrats Confer

LANSING (AP)—A meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee has been set for Sunday in Lansing, State Chairman Neil Staebler announced today.
Meeting at 2 p. m. in the Porter Hotel, the committee will hear reports on the general election and make plans for the party's future.

Sen. Taft Irked; May Seek Senate Floor Leadership

trol, manpower and petroleum supplies. The third was described as dealing with high-level government organization and precautions against subversion or sabotage.
Can Have The Job
As president, Eisenhower would have to deal directly with the Senate floor leader on legislation. If Taft wants that job, three Republicans said he can get it with little more than a token fight.
Senators Langer (R-ND) and Watkins (R-Utah) said they would be for Taft if he wants the leadership post. Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), who lined up against Taft for leader aspirants two years ago, said in a separate interview he, too, has no doubt the Ohioan can have just about any job he wants in the GOP Senate command. Hendrickson wouldn't say how he would vote, however.

Reuther Sees Danger Of Inflation In 1953

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, today emphasized the "danger of a deflationary spiral next year" in commenting on a one cent an hour pay cut facing union members.
Hourly pay rates for 1,000,000 auto workers will drop a cent an hour as of Dec. 1, because the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics BLS price index shows a slight decline in the cost of living.
The workers are covered by cost of living contract clauses tying their salaries to the price index. The one cent cut will be the fifth under the clause but will leave auto workers with a total cost of living increase of 25 cents an hour.
The BLS price index fell to 191.5 per cent as of Oct. 15, compared to 192.4 last July 15.

Legendary AFL President To Be Buried Monday

to rejoin the AFL briefly, only to switch again and become an independent with the now-famous telegram: "Green—we disaffiliate." That followed another of the many policy differences between the two.
Lewis Wires Widow
But, when word of Green's death reached him, Lewis telegraphed Green's widow:
"I am deeply shocked to learn of the passing of your distinguished husband. It has been my privilege to know him for many years during which he made great contributions to the cause of the common people of our country. Organized labor can ill afford to lose a leader of his eminent capabilities and his lifetime dedication to the betterment of American life. The coal miners of the nation, of whom he was one until his final hour, will join me in expressing grief at his passing and extending to you and the members of your bereaved family profound sympathy in your hour of sorrow."
Green was a full-fledged coal miner by the time he was 18. He had been in the soft-coal pits long before that, but how soon he started digging coal after his birth on March 3, 1870, in the Prosser's Hollow section just outside Coshocton no one seems to know.
Succeeded Gompers
Young Bill Green's father was a miner and early in life the son developed a deep-rooted devotion to unions. When he was 36, Green went to the Ohio Senate for two terms and won a fight to abolish a mine pay practice he believed unjust. He introduced and obtained passage of a bill banning the practice of paying miners only for coal big enough to be stopped by a two-inch screen.

At about the same time, in 1906, Green became president of the Ohio District of the UMW. He became Lewis' secretary in 1912 and, in 1924, on the death of Samuel Gompers—the founder and only other president the AFL had ever had—Green became the AFL leader. He has been re-elected AFL president every year since. He was last elected in September.
As Green's health deteriorated, his family kept silence, hoping to avoid the flood of sympathetic messages it knew was inevitable. But death opened the floodgates to all who mourned him.

Peter Reiss Skipper Dan Sullivan Stricken

BAY CITY (AP)—Daniel C. (Big Dan) Sullivan, 52, well known Great Lakes ship captain, was reported in critical condition at a hospital here after a seizure aboard his ship.
Sullivan, master of the freighter Peter Reiss, was stricken with internal hemorrhages.
A resident of Sheboygan, Wis., Sullivan is vice president of the Great Lakes Shipmasters Association.
The U. S. government printing office normally employs an average of 4000 persons.
